

Original Plan Preferred By State Council

HARRISBURG, June 2 (P)—The State Council of Education today declined to permit four Northampton County communities to join in a new school district.

The council at a special meeting voted against changing the original Northampton County school plans as approved previously including seven districts.

Portland, East Bangor, and Washington and Upper Mt. Bethel Townships had petitioned the council to approve a separate jointure.

Seven-District Jointure

Under the original county plan these four and Bangor, Roseto and Lower Mt. Bethel would all consist into one district.

Dr. Carl E. Seifert, deputy superintendent of public instruction, said today's vote turning down the new recommendation of the county board of school directors was "not unanimous." However, he said he was not permitted to disclose the actual vote.

Seifert said the decision was "based upon the idea that the council felt the original plan would provide better educational opportunities for children of the area." The decision had been postponed since May.

Two Possibilities

Under the decision, Dr. Seifert explained, the seven communities still have authority to band into a single school district. In addition the four districts could petition again for approval of a jointure among the four.

Foreign Aid Bill Passed By Senate

WASHINGTON, June 2 (P)—The Senate tonight passed the entire 2½ billion dollar foreign aid program President Eisenhower has asked for the fiscal year starting July 1.

The vote was 59-18.

For the first time since 1950, the Senate failed to remove so much as one penny from the global aid authorization bill which Eisenhower on April 20 called "an indispensable part of a realistic and enlightened national policy."

The 18 senators who voted no were: Barrett (R-Wyo), Byrd (D-Va), Curtis (R-Nebr), Daniel (D-Tex), Dvorshak (R-Idaho), Eastland (D-Miss), Ellender (D-La), Goldwater (R-Ariz), Hruska (R-Nebr), Jenner (R-Ind), Johnson (D-Okla), Kerr (D-Okla), Langer (R-ND), McCarthy (R-Wis), Russell (D-Ga), Welkey (R-Idaho), Williams (R-Del) and Young (R-ND).

The bill now goes to the House.

Soundly defeated in the Senate were a score of amendments to chop millions of dollars from various parts of the measure. The money itself still has to be voted in a separate bill.

The measure authorizes $1,595,000,000 in direct military aid to friendly foreign nations, more than half for Asia, and the balance in a variety of economic assistance programs, including a 200 million dollar development fund for the "Free Arc" of Asia. Already authorized for the new program was an additional 122 million dollars in defense funds, making the total precisely the $3,330,000,000 Eisenhower recommended.

Sen George (D-Ga), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, mustered a comfortable majority to beat back most amendments, including efforts to cut the over-all total to compel the administration to handle a specified portion of economic aid as loans rather than grants, and to send the measure back to committee.

Continue Opposition

HARRISBURG, June 2 (P)—The Republican Executive Committee agreed today on "continued opposition" to Gov. Leader's proposed classified income tax on the grounds that it is unjust and unconstitutional.

Motorist Killed As Car Hits Culvert, Overturns

LIKE THE EYES OF A WITNESS the two headlights of an overturned car stare at the death scene of Arthur J. Jones, 23-year-old resort steward who was killed yesterday morning on Route 196. Dr. Charles Rushmore, Monroe County coroner, examines the body while Pfc. Robert Latzo, back to camera, of Mount Pocono State police takes notes. Jones died of hemorrhages caused by a deep scalp cut and a fractured skull.

Wreck Occurs Near Site Of Girl's Death

A 23-YEAR-OLD Wilkes-Barre man, employed as a steward at a Pocono resort hotel, was killed at 3 a. m. yesterday on Route 196.

The dead man was Arthur John Jones, of 27 W. Ross St., Wilkes-Barre. Jones car ran off the road, hit a concrete abutment and overturned several times, Mount Pocono State police said.

The accident occurred within a short distance of the site of the wreck which killed Linda Mary Oney, 6, two weeks ago. In that accident, a loaded coal truck, driven by the girl's grandfather, ran off the road, hit a utility pole and overturned.

Thrown From Car

State Trooper Robert Latzo investigated yesterday's fatal accident. His report said that Jones was thrown from the car. The driver was lying several feet away from the wrecked vehicle when police arrived. The car had come to rest on its top.

Jones was still alive when Dr. E. O. Headrick, Mount Pocono, got to the scene. He died a short time later.

The time of the accident was fixed at about 2:50 a. m. The official death certificate signed by Dr. Charles H. Rushmore, Monroe County coroner, places the time of death at 3 a. m.

Dr. Rushmore said Jones died of massive hemorrhages caused by a deep scalp cut and a severe skull fracture.

Ran Off Highway

The vehicle driven by Jones was owned by Charles A. Clark, Buck Hill Falls, police said. Jones was traveling east on Route 196. At a point near Blackwell's Garage, his car ran off the road on the right side, police reported.

The car hit a concrete abutment, apparently went out of control, swerved off the road and began a series of overturns. Jones was thrown from the car and left lying alongside the highway.

Jones' body was removed to William H. Clark funeral home, Stroudsburg. During routine preparations at the funeral home, it was discovered that Jones was of the Catholic faith.

Rev. John Esseff of St. Matthew's, East Stroudsburg, was called. Father Esseff administered last rites to the victim at the funeral home.

The body was taken to Wilkes-Barre yesterday afternoon. Funeral services will be held there Monday. Jones was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Jones, same address in Wilkes-Barre.

Studies Show Smoking Alters Lung Structure

ATLANTIC CITY, June 2 (P)—Discovery of an apparent physical difference in the lungs of cigarette smokers compared with nonsmokers was reported tonight.

The difference is more thickening of certain cells in the mucus lining of the lung air tubes in smokers, although some also occurs in nonsmokers.

Some authorities consider this thickening pre-cancerous, leading to cancer if it continues long enough, while others do not.

The cell thickening was detected in microscopic studies of lungs of 41 humans by Drs. Oscar Auerbach, Thomas G. Petrick, Arthur Purdy Stout, Arnold L. Stastinger, Gerald E. Muehsam, Jerome B. Forman and J. Brewster Gere in research at the Veterans Administration Hospital, East Orange, N. J. They gave their findings at a symposium before the American College of Chest Physicians.

More studies and more cases are needed before this could be called a link between smoking and lung cancer, said Dr. Auerbach, a pathologist specializing in chest diseases. Forty-one is a small number. It included eight nonsmokers, the rest had been light to heavy smokers.

But it is apparently the first report of a physical difference in the lungs of smokers as against nonsmokers.

Tearful, Happy Reunion Occurs At Honolulu

HONOLULU, June 2 (P)—More than two years of anxious waiting ended today for the families of four U. S. fliers, back from the Korean War after lonely months in Red China's prisons.

A big, slick, blue and white Air Force plane brought the families here from the mainland to a tearful, happy reunion.

Events had moved fast this week for the four—Lt. Col. Edwin Heller, Wynnewood, Pa.; Capt. Harold E. Fischer, Swea City, Iowa; Lt. Lyle Cameron, Lincoln, Neb., and Lt. Roland W. Parks, Omaha.

Released at Hong Kong Tuesday, they had reached Honolulu only yesterday, astounded to learn that their families were being flown to Hawaii. This was the great moment to which they had looked during the cold days they spent in Manchurian prison cells.

Impatient Wait

They stood impatiently in spanking new Air Force uniforms as the plane rolled up toward the ramp at Hickam Air Force Base. They all carried orchid leis, the floral necklaces of Hawaii.

Heller embraced his wife, Judith, first off the plane. He met her half way up the steps. They sobbed happily.

Fischer also raced up the steps and hugged his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Fischer Sr. Father and son poynded each other on the back. Their eyes were red as they came down the steps.

Cameron was even more impetuous. He ran up the steps and grabbed his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland G. Cameron. He pounded his brother, Robert, 21, about the ribs.

Father Speechless

Parks rushed up to embrace his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William G. Parks and his brother, Richard. The elder Parks could not speak until he reached the bottom of the ramp. Then he said: "I hope to God you're okay."

The families talked to each other in front of television cameras for a few minutes. In answer to a shout from the crowd, the elder Cameron said: "I'm happy inside. That's all I know."

The four pilots were shot down in North Korea in 1952 and 1953. They were not released at the time of the armistice because the Communists insisted they had flown over Manchuria.

State Given 30,000 Acres Of U. S. Land

HARRISBURG, June 2 (P)—The General Assembly closed shop for the week today with the word that Gov. Leader has signed into law an extension of Pennsylvania's one per cent real estate transfer tax.

And just before the Senate adjourned until 3:30 p. m. and the House until 4:20 p. m. next Monday, the governor's office announced a windfall in the form of 30,000 acres of federal land given to the Commonwealth.

The gift from Washington includes separate tracts of forest, game and recreational lands in Bradford, Bedford, Perry and Tioga counties.

The acreage is equal to about 60 per cent of the area the Commonwealth is ready to sell and lease tomorrow to the Curtiss-Wright Aeronautical Corp. for establishment of an experimental center.

Replacement

It ties in with the Curtiss-Wright transaction in that it could provide replacements for forest and recreational areas to be absorbed in the tract the experimental center will take up.

Signing of the real estate transfer tax extension bill provided a dramatic prelude to the announcement by the governor's office of Washington's gift to Harrisburg.

The new law contains a section which anticipates eliminating the possibility of free deed transfers.

Previously, Leader had signed legislation continuing for another two years the Commonwealth's temporary two cent per gallon gasoline tax. Another three cent a gallon tax is permanent.

With no end in sight to the struggle to enact the governor's classified income tax to bring in 620 millions in new revenue, the General Assembly has had to enact stop-gap legislation providing 65 millions to keep the payroll going through the first part of the 1955-57 biennium.

Non-Support Defendant Escapes Pike Co. Jail

MILFORD

A man charged with non-support escaped from Pike County Jail yesterday.

He was Justin J. Burdo, 25, of Baltimore, Md., and a former Dingmans Ferry resident. He is charged with failure to fulfill requirements of a court order to pay $15 weekly for support of a son by his first wife, Dorothy of Dingmans Ferry.

Burdo also figured in a recent involuntary manslaughter case which was tried in Pike County Court this month.

He was one of two defendants named in that case. Burdo was found innocent by the jury.

Yesterday at 12:45 p. m., Burdo escaped from the jail. Exactly how he managed the escape was not known last night.

Mrs. Ruth Cole, who, with her husband Lee, is in charge of the jail for County Sheriff Fred Kellogg, said that Burdo may have picked the lock on the cellblock door.

Prisoner On Second Floor

Burdo was a prisoner in a cell on the second floor of the jail. In order to make his escape from the jail Burdo apparently went through the first-floor quarters.

Milford State police joined the sheriff and deputies in a search for the escaped man immediately. Burdo was reported seen on the north edge of Milford, entering the woods there a short time after his escape, Mrs. Cole said.

The involuntary manslaughter case in which Burdo was a co-defendant, was one of the most involved cases heard in local courts recently. It dates from an auto accident on July 28, 1953 in which two persons were killed.

The two men in the car involved in the accident were indicted for involuntary manslaughter. The car was owned by Ronald Hoadson of Milford. The unanswered question for many months was: Who was driving the car at the time of the accident.

New Evidence

Finally, in February of this year, Burdo's attorney entered a plea of guilty to the involuntary manslaughter charge. Burdo, he said, had suffered a brain concussion which caused loss of memory and he did not remember who was driving the car, therefore, he, Burdo, may have been the driver.

He was taken to jail. Hoadson, meanwhile, was sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of letting Burdo drive his car. The whole case was reopened on the basis of new evidence when Hoadson allegedly boasted that Burdo was "taking the rap" for him.

The case came to trial on Monday, May 16. It continued for a week. On the basis of evidence presented at that trial, a jury found Hoadson guilty of the charge. The jury acquitted Burdo.

It was at the end of the manslaughter trial that Burdo was arrested on the non-support charge. He entered Pike County Jail on the new charge on May 24.

Harrisburg Doctor Fined $25,000

PHILADELPHIA, June 2 (P)—A Harrisburg and Carlisle ear, nose and throat specialist was fined $25,000 today in U. S. district court for income tax evasion.

Dr. Forney P. George also was placed on two-years probation.

The fine, plus a 50 per cent penalty and interest on $38,836 due, brings his total liability to almost $100,000. The government charged the tax evasion took place from 1948 to 1950.

Tito, Russia Back Peiping's Formosa Claim

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, June 2

President Tito and Premier Bulganin signed a joint declaration tonight urging creation of a world atmosphere which could lead to solution by peaceful means of the world's outstanding problems.

Among them they listed "the satisfaction of the legitimate rights of the People's Republic of China with regard to Formosa." The Soviet Union has long backed Red China's claim to the Nationalist Chinese island fortress.

At the end of their talks, Yugoslavians and the Soviet Union declared that all nations of the world should make further efforts to negotiate outstanding problems.

"Through such efforts," said the joint declaration, "an atmosphere would be created which would at the same time make possible a solution by peaceful means, of such urgent problems of the first importance as that of an agreed settlement of the German question on a democratic basis in conformity both with the wishes and interests of the German people and with the interests of general security, the satisfaction of the legitimate rights of the People's Republic of China with regard to Taiwan (Formosa)."

Bargaining With GM

Neither Ford nor the UAW would comment on the published report, pointing to their agreement to conduct negotiations in secret. The union was bargaining simultaneously with both Ford and General Motors.

Possible strikes faced Ford on Monday and GM on Tuesday but it was generally believed only one of the giant auto firms would be singled out for any strike action.

There were a number of scattered "wildcat" or unauthorized walkouts in Ford Co. plants yesterday and some more today. The company said some cars were "sabotaged" with scratches and knife slashes on assembly lines. The union made no comment.

Wallpack Dam Deadline May Be Extended

TRENTON, N. J. — The New Jersey Senate wants to give Pennsylvania more time to consider legislation to construct a dam at Wallpack Bend in the Delaware River.

A bill, sponsored by Senate Majority Leader Wayne Dumont Jr. (R-Warren) and passed, 18-0, in the Senate on Wednesday would extend for six months the July 1 deadline set for Pennsylvania to act on legislation similar to measures adopted by New Jersey in 1953.

Action on the bill is expected in the Assembly on Monday, when the Legislature hopes to wind up its work and recess until at least Aug.

Approved In House

New Jersey approved the dam at Wallpack, Sussex County, opposite Bushkill, Pa., two years ago in a bill that provided Pennsylvania must also pass similar legislation by July 1, 1955. A bill has been passed by the Pennsylvania House of Representatives, but has lapsed in the Senate.

The dam would be built with Pennsylvania supplying 70 per cent of the cost and New Jersey the balance. New Jersey would be permitted to take 30 per cent of the water stored by the dam. The Wallpack Bend proposal is considered by some New Jersey water experts as an alternate of subsidiary plan for a proposed reservoir in Hunterdon County's Round Valley.

Doctor Tells Why Children Need Those Tetanus Shots

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.

TETANUS, or lockjaw, is a nasty disease. It's not very common these days but since almost everyone who gets it dies with it, it's worth quite a bit of trouble to avoid it.

Tetanus is caused by the tetanus germ. This germ is present in street dirt and is especially abundant around barns where there are cows and horses. It is also abundant in manure used to fertilize gardens.

The tetanus germ is different from many other kinds of germs. It has the special ability to form spores. These spores are a form of germ that can live under conditions that would kill the regular germ. They can withstand drying and sunlight and even boiling.

Grow In Dark

Tetanus spores can only grow when they get into a dark warm place away from air.

If there happens to be a tetanus spore on some object that gives you a deep puncture wound there is danger you might get tetanus.

If you get a wound from which there is danger of tetanus and you have never had tetanus shots, you must have tetanus anti-toxin. It is the only thing that will act quickly enough to prevent tetanus after an injury. We cannot make tetanus anti-toxin in the laboratory. The only way we can get it is to inject horses with the germ and then take blood from the horse.

Horse serum makes some people quite sick. We can avoid using horse serum if we give shots of a material called tetanus toxoid before a wound occurs. The toxoid is made in the laboratory and has no horse serum in it. It is, however, not powerful enough to use alone after the wound. If we give a person two shots of tetanus toxoid two months apart he will have a good deal of immunity to tetanus in his body. It won't be quite enough to completely protect him from a bad wound, so that at the time of injury we boost his immunity by giving him an additional shot of tetanus toxoid.

It's sensible and intelligent to see that your children, you, and the rest of our family too have tetanus shots regularly every two years.

Dr. L. G. Kutsher, veterinarian, will be out of town from June 1 to 16, inclusive.—Adv.

Drug Addicts Total 60,000

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Narcotics Commissioner Harry J. Anslinger testified today there are an estimated 60,000 drug addicts in the United States, spending an average of $10 a day on narcotics. Most addicts steal to get money for drugs, he told Senate investigators, and the evil represents an enormous economic loss to the nation.

The commissioner said one out of 3,000 Americans is a drug addict. The goal, he said, is to get back to one in 10,000, a figure achieved between 1938 and 1948 when "addiction had reached an irreducible minimum."

The two outstanding steps that can be taken to control the dope trade, Anslinger said, are "to punish the trafficker and to compel the addict to take treatment."

He appeared before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee at the

96 Organizations Register For Firemen's Parade June 18

44 Companies 5,000 Marchers To Take Part

TO DATE 96 organizations have accepted invitations extended by the Stroudsburg Fire Department to participate in the parade, climaxing the 58th annual convention of the Four County Firemen's Assn. here Saturday afternoon, June 18.

Reports on the progress being made for the annual convention and parade were made by Archie S. Rundle, co-chairman of the convention committee at the meeting of Chemical Co. No. 1, this week.

As of yesterday, 44 fire companies had registered to participate in the parade, not counting the Stroudsburg department. A total of 21 fire company women's auxiliaries and 31 musical organizations, bands and drum corps, are also listed. In addition to the marchers, it is expected there will be 67 pieces of fire apparatus in line.

More Expected

In addition to the organizations already registered, it is expected at least six more fire companies will be heard from, increasing the number of auxiliaries and musical units, also. The sub-committee working out the parade details estimate there will be 5,000 marchers in all in the parade.

Of the fire companies which have accepted, there are 11 or 12 from cities and towns in New Jersey. This number may also be increased.

The parade details are being worked out by the sub-committee and will be announced. The pageant will form in the western part of Stroudsburg and march to East Stroudsburg and return to Gordon Giffels field and Stroudsburg playground for dismissal.

Refreshments will be served following the parade with a special section set aside for entertainment of the juveniles in the bands and drum corps. This represents a real job, committee members pointed out.

Decorators Engaged

The town will be specially decorated for the two-day event adding color to the attractiveness of the community. A special decorating firm is in charge of this project.

The convention will meet in the auditorium of the Stroudsburg High School, Friday, June 17. The opening session will get under way at 10 a. m. Fire Chief Millard A. Marsh, president of the Four County Assn., will preside. The address of welcome will be given by Hal H. Harris, chief Burgess, and John I. Correll, of Bangor, member of the executive committee, will give the response. Routine business will follow.

The annual memorial services honoring those who have died during the year will start at 11 a. m., with Rev. Robert H. Krauss, of Hellertown, the chaplain in charge. To date there have been 14 deaths whose names will be announced by J. Allison Everitt, the secretary.

Three Faiths

Participating in the service will be Rev. Harold G. Durkin, St. Matthew's, R. C. Church; Rev. Roger C. Stinson, Stroudsburg Methodist Church, and Rabbi William Fierwerker, Temple Israel, East Stroudsburg.

Musical selections will be given by the mixed chorus of Stroudsburg High School, under the direction of Numa J. Snyder, with Miss Ruth Fetherman, accompanist.

The afternoon session starting at 1:30 will be devoted to reports and an address by a prominent speaker. New officers will be inducted previous to the final adjournment.

The annual banquet will be held in the auditorium of George N. Kemp Post, 346, American Legion, Friday night at 6. Wilbur G. Warner, postmaster of Lehighton, will be the guest speaker. He is active in fire circles, American Legion and Elksdom. There will be a floor show and other attractions.

Higher Wage Floor Asked By Madden

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Rep. Madden (D-Ind.) demanded today that the national minimum wage be $1.25 an hour, to help slow down what he called a flight of industry to "low wage" Southern states.

Madden, whose district includes the great industrial concentration at Gary, said the 90-cent minimum proposed by President Eisenhower isn't enough to keep up with the cost of living. The minimum is now 75 cents.

He tangled frequently, in hearings of the House Labor Committee with Chairman Barden (D-NC), whose district is largely rural but includes some textile manufacturing.

Rep. Dollinger (D-NY), from New York's Bronx, also called for a $1.25 an hour minimum. Further, Dollinger said, coverage should be nationwide with no exceptions.

Make Everyone Happy

Barden retorted sarcastically, "Let's don't do a halfway job—let's give them $10 an hour and make everybody happy."

Saying there is not enough incentive to work these days, and too much reliance on "rocking chair money"—unemployment payments—Barden added:

"And along with increasing our minimum, we ought to create a desire to work."

Coolbaugh Honor Graduates Face Future With Optimism

TOBYHANNA—Coolbaugh Township High School seniors were honored at commencement exercises last night in the school auditorium.

A large audience listened as the class valedictorian and salutatorian talked optimistically of the future and gratefully of the past.

Edward Champney, valedictorian chose "Graduation And What It Means" as his topic. Salutatorian Leroy Smith's topic was "Education—The Door To Opportunity."

In his address, Champney noted that the cold, dictionary meaning for "graduation..." is the act of receiving a diploma. The real meaning, he said, is contained in the "12 years of work" which have gone into getting the diploma and the memory of each of those years.

He paid tribute to the guidance of parents and teachers who have helped the students in choosing a career to their own liking.

Vision of Hope

Now, as they graduate, he said, "each will go his own way—some to college; others to serve their country in the armed forces; still others to go to work in offices and factories." No matter what they may do, he said, "tomorrow (to these graduates) is a vision of hope fulfilled with many opportunities for work and time to achieve the goals we have set for ourselves."

Smith's salutatory address pointed out that "we, as in no other nation in the world, can go on with our education, to learn further the profession or trade we choose to follow."

"We know that nearly all professions and trades are in need of men and women so we are sure that if we learn a trade we will be able to work at it. Training offered in the armed service can help to prepare graduates for better jobs in later life," he continued. For those who do not attend college or enter the armed forces there are plenty of jobs available, Smith said.

Problems Faced

"Of course we have problems to face," he said. "There are cold wars. We have economic problems, and political troubles. But, if we really put our minds to it we can overcome the worst of any situation that arises. We must feel that as we grow older we will be able to strengthen ourselves to face these grave situations."

"Although there are great problems in the world, none of them are too great for us to handle. We can overcome these problems because we refuse to give up the freedom that we have become so used to," he concluded.

Awards given at the commencement, not previously announced, went to Carol Saxe and Robert Rossick, American Legion awards and to Jean Kresge, a medal for outstanding work in the field of history.

The guest speaker was Wilbur G. Warner, Lehighton postmaster, who talked on "The Three C's in Success." He outlined them as: Concentration, Concentration and Consumption.

ALL Facts Must Be Outlined To Public So Sound Vaccine Decisions Are Made

One by-product of the delays and confusion in the polio vaccine program has been to complicate the decision parents must make individually about their own children.

The question is simple enough. Is it better to have the shots as soon as the vaccine is available, or to wait until the summer epidemic season is past?

The answer is not so easy. And the fear of making the wrong decision will be tremendously disturbing to millions of parents.

This is not a question the Public Health Service can answer. It can only try to make sure that the vaccine is safe and effective, and, within the limits of safety, is available as quickly as possible.

It is not a question the medical profession can answer with certainty, although for most parents the advice of the family physician will and should be decisive.

But the decision will still weigh heavily on all parents.

There are, nevertheless, ways in which this decision can be made much easier.

One, is for the Government to make all the facts available, the good and the bad, fully and quickly. Failure to do this earlier was one reason for the confusion.

Another is for the medical profession to join fully and willingly in the administration of the vaccine program.

General Public Has Greater Incentive— Use Of Its Own Dollars—For Economies

It was Senator Byrd who said that Federal spending projects "slip in like mice and soon grow to the size of elephants."

It was Herbert Hoover who said it is the bureaucratic empires which grow out of these projects, and the pressure groups behind them, which are the chief obstacles to sensible spending by the Government.

Senator Byrd is one of the few interested in balancing the Federal budget and reducing the national debt. The Hoover Commission is making specific recommendations which can lead to those goals.

But the Hoover recommendations are useless unless they are adopted by Congress and the executive departments of the Government. In red-ink-minded Washington, the chances of the program being adopted are nil if the empire-builders and the pressure groups have their way.

The only effective way to combat them is to start a backfire—from the most potent pressure group of all, the general public. And why should the public, collectively and individually, take a hand in this?

The answer is simple: For the sake of its pocketbook.

George Sokolsky Says...

Americans Go Negative In Selling U. S. Proposals To Britain While In England

London, May 26—In the various talks that I have had here with Conservatives and Socialists, with businessmen and politicians, one thing stands out clearly: The United States has been badly served in setting forth the American point of view on the China question. That, more than anything, I am sure, is responsible for both parties putting in their manifestos that they will not support our position as regards Quemoy and Matsu and it is very doubtful if they will do anything if we are involved in Formosa.

Americans here tend to go native. They take on what they believe is the British attitude and then they become more British than the British and tend to be apologetic about the United States. That attitude does not do either the United States or Great Britain any good because it develops misunderstandings. Great Britain has recognized Red China but the United States has not. When they talk of China, they mean Red China and unless they think sharply they do not realize that we have not recognized Red China. It makes talking about the subject difficult.

The British have a claim that Dean Acheson, when he was Secretary of State, told them that if they recognized Red China, we would follow them. Our unwillingness or inability—which ever it was—to go along with this program makes for complications. Then the British feel that the Islands Quemoy and Matsu lie so close to the China coast that they are like their own Channel Islands and they would not like those islands held by another country, particularly an enemy.

It is difficult to carry over to them the argument that Quemoy and Matsu, and even Formosa, are not the issue at all but that the American people are tired of being pushed around. We have had our bad day in China, in Korea, in Indochina, and we do not want to take any more. The Red Chinese may be concerned about "face" but so are we. And if any more "face" is to be lost, we are not the ones to lose it. I must report that we talk more about the value of Hongkong than the British do. In fact, I never heard Hongkong mentioned unless I was the one who brought it up. On the other hand, once it is brought up, the question is asked as to whether we would defend Hongkong as we are defending Formosa.

Every Britisher, including labor leaders, has said to me that nothing could be more disastrous than a split between the United States and Great Britain. One very important figure in international relations said that such a split would be of the greatest historic magnitude and might put an end to Western civilization. So I asked, why is it that we Americans must always take the steps to avoid the split; why are not our sensibilities taken into consideration?

At that point, all the failures of presentation of American policy become apparent. What the British think that most Americans believe has no relationship to any realities in our country. They wonder why so practical a people as we are can be excited about two barren islands.

Whether it is the government in Washington that puts out the wrong stuff or whether it is newspaper reports from Washington, it is the same thing. The British do not realize, for instance, that we are sure about Americans held as hostages in Red China and that we dislike anybody bargaining for their release. We feel that they should not have been held in the first place and that the only way the Red Chinese can show their sinisterity is to release them forthwith. If they hold our boys as hostages, we have no reason to help them get those islands.

It is not too well known here that we have a duly signed treaty with the Republic of China which is as sacred as any treaty we have with Great Britain or any other nation and that we gave

Chiang Kai-shek a written four-paragraph memorandum at the time of the evacuation of the Tachen Islands that we would defend Quemoy and Matsu. Little of this has had any circulation.

As allies, we ought to see that the truth about us gets to them on all questions.

mand for disarmament by saying, "Very well, and let's start with Middlecoff, Hogan, Nelson and Sarazen." Adding, "And I want an honest and frequent inspection of their weapons." Conceivably he could contend that the peace of the globe depends no more on a change of American foreign policy than it does on a change in the handicap system so that a star performer, meeting with a star performer, gets a minimum of five strokes per hole. A man's thinking, judgment, balance, wisdom or patience are improved by an afternoon on the links with superior golfers. Personally we think no man

Communist Bigwigs Know Youth Have Some Romance

Government spokesmen keep telling us we must brace ourselves for many more years of the cold war. And certainly it is no cinch for even the most optimistic to suggest just how we're ever going to transform the current gloowering contest into anything resembling peace and goodwill.

But maybe love will find a way. According to News from Behind the Iron Curtain, monthly publication of the Free Europe Committee, some of the Russian satellite countries have been in recent months in the throes of a New Deal—"the New Course," they call it.

One of the radical tenets of the New Course, I gather, is that love and kindred emotions are all right, if they aren't overdone.

By orthodox Soviet standards of even two years ago that sort of thinking would have been rank heresy. Under the Old Course, love and romance had no legitimate function except as they might contribute to the efficiency of the state economic machine.

Communist bigwigs were realistic enough to recognize that young men and women might get to making goo-goo eyes at one another in spite of Marx, Lenin, Stalin, Malenkov, hell or high water. But they looked on that as an evil and tried to bend the tendency to the advantage of the Party. The propagandists virtually knocked themselves out trying to persuade the two sexes to measure each other's desirability in terms of work productivity rather than mere personal charm.

No loyal, self-respecting comrade, they insisted, would look twice at a girl who wasn't exceeding her production quota at the tractor works or who was playing hooky from her Street Committee meetings.

But the comrades did steal sidelong glances at some of the female sluggards from time to time—perhaps even indulging on occasion in a silent, appreciative whistle. By the same token, a disposition to solder on the job didn't seem to make a male comrade wholly repugnant to some of the more impressionable females, either.

In short, a good deal of surreptitious footsie was being played among the boys and girls without regard to the state economic machine and its production quotas.

Finally the party propagandists apparently saw they weren't making any appreciable headway against the forces of young love and romance, so they fell back on the time-tested principle of the practical politician: "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em."

They changed their tune to recognize love, marriage and family relationships as natural and not necessarily inimical to the dictatorship of the proletariat and the ultimate triumph of the socialist state.

The romantic literature growing out of this revised dogma still has a fairly mechanical sound but its relative softness is heartening. Perhaps the day will come when the commissars will have to recognize that a human willingness to live and let live is natural, too, Marx to the contrary notwithstanding.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Air Force Ordered To Increase Plane Building

Washington, June 2: An extraordinary meeting preceded that long-overdue Air Force announcement that production of B-52 strategic bombers will be sharply "accelerated."

In effect, the Air Force was ordered to do that.

Secretary Harold Talbott and General Nathan Twining were bluntly warned to take immediate and forceful measures to counter Russia's growing air menace, or Congress will compel such action.

The unusual castigation occurred at a secret session of the Joint Atomic Subcommittee on Military Application. Significantly, the caustic discussion was bipartisan, with Republicans being as critical as the Democrats. Both evinced anger and concern over lagging U. S. air build-up.

Much of what was said at this stormy meeting is classified and unpublished. But the following highlights can be reported:

The two top Air Force leaders were questioned closely about technical aspects of various Soviet air developments, particularly in heavy bombers. One Committee member remarked bitterly:

"It is now clearly evident that while the U. S. has been cutting back and slowing down its production of new and more powerful bomber and fighter planes, the Russians were embarking on a crash program to exceed us. The Reds did what we should have done to keep ahead of them. Instead, they are now either on a par with us or superior to us. We don't know, but we are sure of one thing: Whatever it is, it isn't good."

The Argument — Talbott contended that American planes are "qualitatively" superior to the Soviets.

"How do you know that?" he was asked. "You really don't know how good their planes are. You have no definite information on that. What we do know is that their planes are flying just as good as ours. And this new T-37 bomber they've got has only four jet engines while our equivalent B-52 requires eight engines to power it. That would indicate they have pretty good quality. Apparently they have a jet engine with twice the thrust (power) of ours."

General Twining argued that U. S. pilots are far better than the Reds.

"The score of kills in Korea was ten to one in our favor," the Air Chief of Staff pointed out. "Our Sabrejets showed themselves far superior to the Russian MIG-15."

"But the Russians weren't flying those MIGs," retorted a Committee member. "The pilots were Chinese and North Koreans who had limited training and little or no combat experience. Our people weren't up against the Reds' varsity team."

Another Committee member cited published statements by American pilots who had fought the MIGs that in some respects these planes were superior to their own.

"And they already have a large number of faster and more powerful MIGs," added the legislator. "It is the MIG-17, a two-jet supersonic version of the original MIG. It is our understanding that several hundred or more of these fighters are already serving with the Red Air Force."

Talbott noted the B-47 medium bomber as a striking instance of U. S. superiority.

"That's some comfort," Senator Henry Jackson (D., Wash.) remarked dryly. "It's good to know they don't top us in everything. But even on our medium bomber, the Russians are apparently matching us in quality if not in quantity—yet. Your own reports are that the Russians' new medium bomber, their T-39, has only two jet engines as against four of the B-47. So your argument about our superior quality doesn't hold up very well."

Twining explained that more powerful U. S. engines are being tested.

"But the Russians apparently already have such engines in their planes," snapped Representative Mel Price (D., Ill.). "We're still working on better engines, but the Reds already have them in operation. Why should that be so? Why should we be lagging behind the Russians, who were far behind us just a few years ago?"

"That's the key question," declared Representative Chief Hollifield (D., Calif.). "And you people had better find an answer to it fast, or it will be too bad for all of us."

Representative Overton Brooks (D., La.), ranking member of the Armed Services Committee, says the new MIG-17 supersonic jet fighter has a speed of 850 mph. This is comparable to the F-100 Super Sabre which is still undergoing tests. Declares Brooks, "Major Russian airbases have been quadrupled in the last few years. They also have rocket-driven interceptors capable of climbing nearly three miles a minute at take-off and more than seven miles a minute above 20,000 feet."

Note: The Air Force's announcement that B-52 production will be speeded up 35 percent did not indicate whether the number of these giant intercontinental bombers will also be increased. Approximately 350 have been ordered, at upwards of $8,000,000 each, but it's conjectural whether this total will be boosted.

Bulletins — The Administration will seek a pay raise for another group—cabinet members and top executives. For the former, it is planned to ask that their pay be increased to $27,500; undersecretaries to $22,500, assistant secretaries to $20,000 and the latter amount for members of boards, commissions and other agencies. For officials under this group, boosts will be sought to bring their salaries up to $17,500.

Winter grains, pastures and seedlings came through the winter in good condition in most areas. Winter crops suffered from heaving and thawing and some failures are reported. Grazing of cattle was common in early May. New spring plantings are greatly in need of rain, the Department said.

June Dairy Month

—by H. G. Heller

Heading into June Dairy Month, Pennsylvania dairy cows in April produced 581 million pounds of milk, record high for the month, the State Department of Agriculture reported.

Output was more than four per cent above the 556 million pounds produced in April last year, Federal-State surveys showed.

Back of the April record were 953,000 milk cows, the same as in March and 8,000 above April 1954. Production per cow at an average of 610 pounds was 22 pounds higher than a year ago, the Department said.

Pennsylvania dairy farmers are on the way toward establishing a new annual record this year. Milk production for the first four months totaled two billion and 129 million pounds, four per cent above the January-April record of last year when output came to two billion and 45 million pounds.

Preliminary estimates indicate Pennsylvania farmers received an average price of $4.15 per hundred pounds (46½ quarts) for wholesale milk during April. A seasonal decline of 40 cents for milk used as Class I affected most producers and, together with lower utilization of fluid purposes, accounted for most of the 35-cent decline from the March average price of $4.50, the survey report said. The April price at $4.15 compares with 4.14 for April 1954. For the first time since November 1952 the monthly price was above "a year earlier" prices.

Nearly all feeds showed some decline in price from March levels and slowed the season drop in the milk-feed ratio. The May 1 survey of special dairy feeds indicated increased feeding of home grown feeds compared with a year earlier. The April 15 milk-feed ratio indicated one pound of milk was equal in value to 1.16 pounds of the average dairy ration.

Spring work was about on schedule by May 1 when a period of favorable weather permitted daily attention to planting of oats and plowing for corn. Winter grains, pastures and seedlings came through the winter in good condition in most areas. Winter crops suffered from heaving and thawing and some failures are reported. Grazing of cattle was common in early May. New spring plantings are greatly in need of rain, the Department said.

Catholic Workers Devoting Selves To Work Of Apostolate Through Opus Dei Movement

CHICAGO, June 2 (P)—A priest on Chicago's South Side is offering Roman Catholic workers of all ranks in America a way to perfection in life—the Work of God.

He is father Joseph L. Murquiza, 42, now an American citizen, who formerly taught civil engineering in Spain until he joined the Opus Dei movement there in 1929 and later became a priest.

Spread to 39 Nations

Father Murquiza described the Opus Dei as a secular institute "made up of lay people who, without being religious, have devoted themselves to the work of the apostolate and to the task of carrying on a life of perfection in the world."

"The members, men and women," he said, "seek sanctity in their ordinary, everyday work and nothing extraordinary is expected of them. The idea is to live lives like those of the early Christians who changed the pagan Roman Empire into a Christian one. It was a pagan world then; it is a world threatened by communism now."

Father Murquiza said the Opus Dei was founded by Mgr. Joseph Escriva de Balaguer, also a one-time engineer, when he was 26. Mgr. Escriva called Murquiza to the priesthood after he had joined the institute.

The Opus Dei has spread to 39 nations, including England, Ireland, France, Germany, the United States, Mexico, Africa and most of South America. As president general, Mgr. Escriva, now 53, directs the worldwide operation from headquarters in Rome.

An imposing three-story building on a shaded street near the University of Chicago is the U.S. headquarters of Father Murquiza, superior of the American branch.

Father Murquiza, a tall, scholarly looking man, explained:

Operates Home

"Our Opus Dei Institute operates the Trimount House for men in Boston, which draws student and faculty members from Harvard, Boston University, Boston College, MIT and Tufts Medical School. We also have a residence for women in Boston, another one here for women and our own headquarters and men's residence in Chicago at 5044 Woodlawn Ave."

"We hope to open another institute residence soon in Madison, Wis., near the university's campus, and we are looking forward to the early establishment of residences in North Carolina, Washington, D.C., and St. Louis."

"Our members are persons from all walks of life, especially those in the professions who can exert a great influence on society. These persons continue to lead their normal life without wearing any religious garb. But they consecrate themselves to God by private vows of poverty, chastity and obedience. In our ranks are students, artists, engineers, teachers, doctors, tradesmen, lawyers, farmers

Italy Is Granted World Bank Loan

WASHINGTON, June 2 (P)—The World Bank granted a 70-million-dollar loan to the Italian government today to help boost agricultural, industrial, and electric power production in hard-pressed southern Italy.

The loan is the biggest development credit ever extended by the 57-nation international agency in Europe since it was organized in 1947.

and salesmen. Every year from 70 to 80 priests are ordained to serve the spiritual needs of the Opus Dei members. There are more than 200 Opus Dei houses all over the world today."

For Convenience and Privacy— a Telephone in the Den

Telephones in handy places throughout the house add a great deal to the pleasure of modern living at very modest cost.

In the den, for example, a telephone enables a man to make or receive calls right where he does the work he brings home with him. And since a telephone in the den permits privacy, there is no interruption to the activities of the rest of the family. Here—and everywhere else you want to put them—additional telephones bring greater convenience and security to all the family.

The cost of each additional telephone is only pennies a day, and you will be charged for the installation of only one telephone, no matter how many we put in for you at one time. Telephones are now available in eight attractive colors or 2-tone combinations to harmonize with any interior. There are many other exciting new Bell conveniences, too. Let us help you plan for complete home telephone service. Just call our Business Office. The Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania.

Stock Market Pushes Ahead Moderately

NEW YORK, June 2 (AP)—The stock market shook free from the doldrums today and managed a modest advance.

The steels did well along with motors, rubbers, farm implements, aircrafts, distillers, chemicals, motion pictures, building materials, and utilities.

The railroads were ahead most of the session but ran into mild profit-taking near the close. A similar fate befell the airlines.

Tobacco, weak yesterday, made a small recovery gesture today.

Prices throughout the list were up 1 to 3 points frequently. Losses seldom were as great as a point.

Near Record High

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 50 cents at $165.30. It was down 10 cents yesterday. The average now stands close to the record high of $166.80 scored last April 26 just before the market went into a consolidating reaction.

The industrial component of the average was ahead $1.00, rails were down 20 cents, and utilities were up 20 cents.

The market broadened out to include 1,109 individual issues of which $10 advanced and 441 declined with 71 new highs and 22 new lows for the year touched.

Business amounted to 2,610,000 shares, best total in three weeks. It was 2,510,000 shares yesterday.

On the American Stock Exchange volume amounted to 850,000 shares as compared with 730,000 shares traded yesterday.

The bond market improved. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were easy.

MR. AND MRS. G. Raymond Rinehart of Philadelphia spent the weekend visiting Mr. Rinehart's brother and sister, Preston Rinehart and Mrs. Harvey Rotzel. Also at the Rotzel home on Decoration day were Mr. Rinehart's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lyle Leondes of Johnson City, N. Y. Mrs. Clyde Jewel of Bangor is spending the week as a guest of Mrs. Rotzel.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of Penns Grove, Pa. were holiday weekend guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Bennett Strait.

Injured thumbs are the fashion in the Gap now. Marshall Metzgar has had his in a cast since he broke it while playing ball after school. Now John Gray has his thumb encased since he cut it Saturday while carving wood. Mrs. Gray took John to General Hospital at once for treatment as it was a bad cut.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Morley and sons Jesse and Robert have moved from Broad Street, the Kulp property, to the former Hammerman residence next to the Post Office.

The Presbyterian Church congregation were shocked and saddened by the sudden illness and the death of their organist Roger Ackers. Sunday morning, James Anthony, officiated at the organ. Alexander Bensinger took the anthem solo. Ushers were Marshall Metzgar and Allen Reinhart. The women of the church served lunch Monday noon to the many relatives who attended the funeral of Jimmy Shellenberger. The service was in charge of the church deacons with Mrs. Clifford Hauser, chairman.

Stepped-Up Program For Educating Scientists May Eventually Wreck Soviet, Expert Believes

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst
ALLEN DULLES, America's top intelligence man, has an interesting theory that Russia's new improved preparatory school system, needed for the production of scientists and technicians, will eventually wreck the Soviet.

His idea is that mass education will in time produce a sufficient number of questioning minds to penetrate the fog of ignorance in which the top Communist leaders attempt to keep the people, and so reveal to them the faults of their country's system.

Step To Coexistence

The Red regime already has acknowledged, through the greater liberty given its scientists for pure research as against the previous requirements for integrating scientific theory with ideology, that science cannot be kept under wraps.

If they ever acknowledge that economics can't either, then they will have taken a long step toward true coexistence with the rest of the world, as against the ambush which they now attempt.

There is a difference, however, between the shallow background of deliberately supplied misinformation and the type of quest to which the world is accustomed, in which minds are handicapped only by a vacuum of knowledge.

For a social reorientation in the world, Russian thinkers will need historical truths which have not been available to them for more than a generation.

They need to know how civilized attitudes have developed, but they are denied the Bibles of all the great religions.

Older People Silenced

They need to know about democratic integration of the welfare of the state with the greatest good for the individual, something their leaders deny exists.

There are grandfathers in the Soviet Union who remember about these things, but who cannot speak. Russia's young thinkers have only what they have been told by the dictators, and that is mostly poison against the outside world.

Dulles admits that the advance of Russian thinking toward recognition of what the rest of the world considers fundamental truths will be a great deal slower in the fields of the humanities and economics than in science where theories are more susceptible to proof.

He says the prospect is sufficiently visible, however, to create a real dilemma for the Communists, who must have the scientists and technicians, must get them from a vast pot of people with broad general educations.

THE PUBLIC Utility Commission has refused a Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad request to remove its passenger-freight agent at Gouldsboro, Wayne County.

The railroad had proposed that the Tobyhanna station agent handle all Gouldsboro business except carload freight. The railroad also sought to eliminate passenger service.

The PUC said the proposed changes did not offer patrons a reasonable substitute for the present freight and passenger service.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6 add 2. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and climb every one of your key numbers, left to right, then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

There has been considerable discussion, pro and con, about the decision to discontinue class night at Stroudsburg High School. Actually it's working out very well. Two of the features of class night, the class will and the class prophecy, were incorporated in Moving-Up Day yesterday.

Ordinarily at Class Night, the parents are a little at sea about the significance hidden in both of them. Why Sally Rayburn inventing a new spot remover should be so hilariously funny, for instance. The Juniors got all the points, however, and sitting in a group could enjoy them to the full. At class night they'd have been crowded out by uncomprehending adults.

The only ones to suffer by dropping class night are the working fathers. The mothers were there, anyway, a little red around the eyes to see the youngsters looking so handsome and grown-up, marching in, carefully spaced, to the flourish of trumpets. Well, it was sort of heart-catching.

Speaking of spacing, a lot of people must have thought they were seeing double at the Methodist church reception Wednesday night and the Glen Brook luncheon yesterday. There were two Henri Metzgers. Except that one of them was her sister, Amanda Lagrone, who flew in from the West for graduation week activities.

Which reminds me there is still another hem to be taken up and there had better be eggs for breakfast. Exams begin today.

What a surprise it was to discover the other afternoon that many of our Polly Crockett cousins have tails that squeak, thanks to a concealed noisemaker. "Wonder if that's intentional," queried one of our sales girls, "or did they make the cap out a toy cat and forget to remove its squeal?" That, of course, we don't know—but we assume it was definitely intentional.

As for the Polly Crockett accessories which pour into and out of the store by the carload, one of our department heads says a salesman told her he knows a cap manufacturer who has orders for one and one half million long-tailed hats. That's certainly a mess of coonskins—but then there are an awful lot of people under the hypnotic spell of the fascinating pioneer.

One local child, I understand, was coaxed into taking his medicine by being told the liquid was "Davy Crockett coffee" and the pills were "bullets from Davy's gun." And Ernie Michelfelder tells me that very soon now there will be available, in our music store, a series of three Davy Crockett long-playing records recounting various episodes from the life of this aforementioned (and much-mentioned) gentleman. I've even heard of one lad who vows he's buying his Dad a coonskin for Father's Day—presumably in the belief that he'll wear it whenever Dad doesn't. He may be foiled however. Dad may never be an admirer of Estes Kefauver . . . one never knows!

One of the nicest gifts available for the graduate is the two piece desk set consisting of an oval box for letters and a "book" which opens to reveal writing sheets for memos. The price is 1.98; the colors maroon or green, with floral design . . . I understand that our general merchandising manager, Holt Wyckoff, has a birthday one of these bright June days. Maybe we'd better get the entire store to sing greetings in the same robust voice he uses whenever he substitutes for Mr. Ernest Wyckoff and birthdays occur . . . An interruption from my son, reminds me once again that children today ask for fifty cents, 1.00 or more with the same bravado you and I used in requesting a nickel. Come to think of it, I can't even remember the last time I was asked for a PENNY. Today's children would have a rather hard time finding anything to buy with one. And can't you just hear your grandchildren demanding FIVE DOLLARS from their parents? Don't know where we're heading, but we're certainly traveling a terrific pace getting there . . . My youngest—age seven—informs me she can't possibly go to the school picnic unless she has her pencil. She knows right where to find them too—"They're in Mrs. Levy's department," she vows, "because that's where the other girls bought them." . . . All the girls here at Wyckoff's are talking about Sardo, the wonderful new bath oil. It's really smooth—and what's more it keeps you feeling that way for several days. Silky smooth. A hot is priced at 3.00 but you use only a capful per tub of water. You begin your bath by submerging the shoulders for two restful minutes. You finish your bath the same way, feeling brand new and exhilarated. What's more, you find that all the dead cuticle around your nails, and all the dry skin on your elbows and legs, rubs off with the towel, leaving you lovelier than you ever believed possible. Do we love it? We Sardo!

Rail Strike Closes Welsh Steel Plants

By Edwin Shank

LONDON, June 3 (AP)—Britain's railway strike today forced the shutdown of six Welsh steel plants. Peacemaking efforts by top trade union officials ended in a deadlock.

The steel works closing, caused by a shortage of coal and scrap iron and affecting 2,700 men, was the first major industrial stoppage because of the five-day-old strike of engineers and firemen.

It foreshadowed widespread unemployment and progressive paralysis of the industrial machine if the strike drags on into next week. The Cabinet met for the first time since Prime Minister Eden led his Conservatives to an election victory over the Labor party a week ago. It studied effects of the railway strike on the nation's economy and considered a report on the 11-day-old walkout of steelworkers at six ports which is impeding Britain's export drive.

No Progress Made

A peacemaking committee of the powerful Trades Union Congress met with officials of the striking Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen in an effort to find a way to end the stoppage.

"No progress has been made," a TUC statement said. "The facts of the situation are being reported to the minister of labor."

It was the second rebuff the TUC received within two days from ASLEF, which is demanding a restoration of wage differentials between its 67,000 engineers and firemen and less skilled railway workers. The latter are mostly members of the 400,000-strong National Union of Railwaymen, which opposes the strike. The strikers want their weekly base pay raised the equivalent of $1.12 to $28.42.

Hegins Township Trips Ringtown For Northern Crown, 3-1

Eastburg To Face Winner Tomorrow

HEGINS — Hegins Township won the Northern Division baseball title in District 11 yesterday by a 3-1 margin over Ringtown, here on the winning contingent's spacious home field.

By winning Hegins earned the right to battle for the District 11 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association championship on this same field tomorrow, with East Stroudsburg, Southern Division title holder, providing the opposition.

Hegins rolled to its biggest victory of the current campaign yesterday behind the southpaw slants of Fritz Reed, who limited Ringtown, the team that eliminated Hazleton from the playoffs, to five safeties.

The host club opened the scoring in the third inning when it got to George Huss, a right hander, for two tallies.

Two Runs

Bruce Shomper opened the frame with a walk and raced to third on a single by Frank Artz. Carl Romberger provided the necessary sacrifice fly to plate Shomper and Artz moved to second on the throw to the plate. Jim Miller, who will pitch against East Stroudsburg tomorrow, drew a life on an error and Artz scored the second and last run of the inning.

Ringtown got one of the runs back in the top of the fifth when Art Zimmerman walked and raced into third on a double, the only extra base blow of the game, by Bob Yurkonis. Ed Turchinsky bunted back to the mound, but Reed threw wildly trying to trap Zimmerman off third and the visiting third baseman scored.

Hegins went in front by the final 3-1 count with a singleton in the home half of the fifth. Romberger singled, stole second and tallied when Miller singled in the hole between first and second.

Miller, Hegins' ace southpaw hurler, played first base yesterday and batted out two hits.

The East Stroudsburg-Hegins showdown game is scheduled to get underway at 3 p.m. tomorrow. In case of rain it probably will be played on Tuesday, on the same field.

U. S. Forces Grow Thin

ST. ANNES, England, June 2 (P) —The Americans finally got thinned out today in the British American golf championship as golfing form changed as suddenly as the English weather. But it took three other Americans and a cold-blooded Englishman to do the job.

Alan Slater, a Yorkshire engineer, met and whipped U. S. Walker Cup player Dale Morey in the gusty fourth round this morning. In the rainy and humid fifth round this afternoon at Royal Lytham and St. Annes, he dented Jimmy McHale, an ex-Walker Cupper, in one of the finest matches played this week.

Survivors

Joining him in the quarter finals were the survivors of three All-American matches in the fifth round—Billy Joe Patton and Joe Conrad of the American Walker Cup forces, and bulky, blue-eyed young Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla. They were the only survivors of the 11 Americans who still were in the shooting early today and the nine who reached the fifth round.

Matchmaker Held For Court On Charges Of Lying To Pennsylvania Boxing Commission

PHILADELPHIA, June 2 (P) — Matchmaker Pete Moran today was held in $3,500 bail for court on charges he lied yesterday as a witness in the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission's probe of the Harold Johnson-Julio Mederos bout.

The commission charged that Johnson was drugged before he entered the ring against Mederos last May 6 and that as a result he collapsed at the end of the second round. Johnson was carried from the ring on a stretcher and Mederos was awarded the knockout win.

The current commission probe of the Johnson-Mederos fight in particular and the fight game in general began after Gov. Leader ordered all professional fights banned in the state for 90 days.

Moran, who serves as a matchmaker for Philadelphia fight promoter Herman Taylor, was served with a warrant during a recess in today's probe session. He was accused specifically with falsely telling the commission members from the witness stand yesterday that he had not contacted any member of Peter Perri's family since the start of the fight investigation.

The name of Perri was brought into the commission's investigation several days ago with the introduction in evidence of a contract bearing the alleged signatures of Johnson and two co-managers, Tommy Loughrey and Perri.

Loughrey is Johnson's manager of record. Perri, in an affidavit signed in his hospital bed, described his purported signature as a forgery.

Today, Moran was called to tell the commission members why he had failed to provide requested bank and other financial records. While this matter was being discussed, a recess was called and it was then that Moran was served with the perjury warrant. A short time later, he was arraigned at a special hearing in City Hall and held for grand jury action.

Pocono Rolls Over Barrett Lions, 13-2

MOUNTAINHOME — Monroe Lions protected their undefeated record in the Pocono Little League last night by scoring a 13-2 decision over Barrett Lions, here at Siglin Field.

The victory was the fourth in as many tries for Pocono, while Barrett is now sporting a record of one win and three setbacks.

Ralph Dunlap was the master of the situation last night as he limited Barrett to nine hits, while his mates banged out 14 safeties and played errorless ball in the field.

Pocono Lions also used five Barrett errors to good advantage.

The visiting Pocono contingent actually won the game with a seven-run outburst in the second and then put the contest on ice with four tallies in the sixth and final frame. Pocono also picked up singletons in the first and third rounds.

Barrett's scoring was confined to the fourth inning, when the home team plated two runners.

A total of 23 base hits were registered in last night's tussle, but only two were for extra sacks.

AT LEAST one full bus load of East Stroudsburg High School students will make the trip to the District 11 Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association championship baseball game to be held on Saturday, East Stroudsburg, Lehigh-Northampton League and Southern Division championship, will make its first trip into a district baseball final. The Cavaliers will oppose either Ringtown or Hegins Township, depending on which of the two finished on the long end of the score yesterday.

East Stroudsburg was represented in the crowd at yesterday's final northern division playoff at Hegins. East Stroudsburg may turn into a ghost town on Saturday, if the number of people who say they plan to attend the championship game make the trip. Right now everyone is talking about the game and it is this column's hope that nobody who plans to make the trip will change his mind at the last minute. The kids deserve everyone's support in their quest for the first District 11 baseball championship ever credited to the Cavaliers.

The Cavaliers have fought their way over many obstacles this season and now are on the brink of their greatest success. A large crowd watched the charges of Coach Jack Kist down Allentown to gain the Southern Division crown at Gordon Giffels Field, but an even larger turnout of East Stroudsburg fans is expected to make the long trip on Saturday. It has been brought to my attention that former East Stroudsburg residents, who now live out of town, will be at the championship game in great numbers.

Seniors have returned from their Washington trip and the Cavaliers took part in a strenuous workout yesterday and will take part in a similar drill after school today. The Kistmen are expected to open Saturday's game with the same lineup that scored a 5-1 verdict over Allentown last week. East Stroudsburg's recent win over Allentown was made to look even better than on the day of its accomplishment, when the Canaries took the measure of Reading, East-Penn League title holder, on Wednesday, 6-5.

Tom Grube, owner of Stroudsburg Speedway, and Harold Snyder, manager of the same track last summer, were spectators at the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. Doug Schoonover, a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, will attend Penn State on a science scholarship this summer. Is Doug going to become an area resident again? Henry Poe, Reading, and Henry Williams, Berks County Club, plan to take part in the third annual Glen Brook Pro-Amateur golf tournament next month.

West Chester State Teachers College, a team conspicuously absent from the East Stroudsburg State Teachers College baseball schedule this season, has just placed two men in the major league ranks. John Edelman, a 19-year-old fellow, was inked by the Milwaukee Braves for a bonus of $4,000. Edelman, a sophomore, had a perfect record of eight wins and no defeats last season. As a freshman he won five and lost one contest. Bob Quinn, a West Chester outfielder, has been signed by the Kansas City A's.

The Varsity "E" Club is expected to make an announcement concerning a fund raising venture this summer today or sometime after next week. Frank O'Rourke, scout for the New York Yankees who is a familiar figure in these parts, is currently on the mend following surgery. The operation took place in Reading. O'Rourke conducted a baseball school in Bangor for a couple of years. The doubleheader to be played at Saylorsburg on Sunday is the first of its kind in this area in recent years.

Saylorsburg will play host to Tannersville in a regularly scheduled Pocono Mountains League tussle in the opener and then meet the Strouds in the nightcap. The second encounter is an exhibition game, Karl Weingartner, Al Adelman and Tom Metzger will give Stroudsburg High three former athletes at Lafayette next September. Several major league scouts are expected to play the role of spectators at Saturday's District 11 championship baseball contest.

The cooperation of managers and scorekeepers in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League over the Memorial Day weekend was virtually perfect and this column offers his thanks. Bill Freard, second baseman for the Strouds, is currently recovering from an injured hand.

The home team was sparked to victory by a pair of home runs. One circuit smash came from the bat of Dick Schoch and the other was delivered by Dick Payne, catcher and center fielder respectively.

The host club came back to even matters with two tallies in the second and then went ahead to stay with four runs in the fourth and two in the fifth.

Barrett completed its scoring with one tally in the fourth.

Oil Painting Presented To New YMCA

THE NEW YMCA Building is the recipient of a large oil painting of "The Delaware Water Gap." It was presented by Gertrude Roberts Rugh of Swiftwater, as a memorial to her late husband, Arthur Rugh, International Young Men's Christian Association secretary to China and Palestine for almost 40 years.

The Rughs retired to the Poconos in 1939. Mr. Rugh died in 1946 after a long illness.

Mr. Rugh was one of the International Committee's outstanding speakers, together with Dr. John R. Mott, Sherwood Eddy, E. T. Colton and J. M. Clinton, at student and church conferences, service club gatherings and many other organizational meetings where student youth were deciding their life work.

Mr. Rugh was a specialist in conducting Bible Study Courses and wrote many courses himself. Local YMCA officials recall that his gracious personality endeared him to those with whom he met and his strong human appeal still lives in the memory of many who came in contact with his magnetic influence.

He and Mrs. Rugh went to China in 1903 and returned in 1939, making many trips over and back and resided in Jerusalem a year for special work after retirement. They took up their residence at Swiftwater in 1942.

In presenting the painting to the YMCA, Mrs. Rugh recalled these words written by her late husband, "If I were to say one word to my children and to their generation, it would be that the Spirit of Christ, living in the hearts of men, is the full answer of life's perplexing problems and nothing else. Here we are dealing with an Infinite Force, fully adapted to our needs and entirely adequate."
